THOMAS SUNDAY

In the gospel reading, Thomas moves from doubt to total trust and belief in God. This reading calls us to also place our total trust in God. When Christ offered his wounds for Thomas to touch, the first wound offered was His side. This is why icons of St. Thomas touching the wounds of Jesus depict him feeling the side of Christ. (And why we refer to Jesus' life-giving side in the Liturgy on Thomas Sunday). In the Divine Mercy image, we see the blood and water gushing forth from Jesus' side. These images reflect one of the opening prayers of the Divine Mercy chaplet: O Blood and Water, which gushed forth from the heart of Jesus as a fountain of mercy for us, I trust in you. (The blood and water which came out of Jesus' side is attributed to the spear piercing His heart).

This Sunday, let us join St. Thomas in a movement towards total trust in God's mercy. Approach Jesus in the sacraments and in prayer with the words "My Lord and My God" and "Jesus, I trust in You."
